JUDGE ENOCH FOSTER

Remarks before Oxford Bar Association by Hon. George D. Bisbee

Enoch Foster was born in the town of Newry, Oxford County, May 10, 1839. His father, Enoch Foster, was the son of Asa Foster, one of the earliest settlers of Newry, dying September 30, 1831. He was a direct descendant of Reginald Foster, a leading man in Colonial times, who came from Brunton, England, to Ipswich, Massachusetts, in 1638. Judge Foster's father, Enoch, was born in Newry, January 1, 1769, and died there December 26, 1881. His wife was Peres Swan, whom he married in 1824.

Judge Foster spent his boyhood days on his father's farm, attending the town schools in Newry, subsequently fitting for college at Gould's Academy and Maine State Seminary at Lewiston. He entered Bowdoin College in 1860. The spirit of the times early interested young Foster, so that he took an active part in the politics of the campaign of that year. It was his intention at that time to adopt law as his profession, and, as preparatory to that, often took part in the debates, both at school and in college.

The election of Lincoln, followed by war in 1861, stimulated him to enlist in the fall, and he was mustered into service as Second Lieutenant Company E, 13th Regiment, Maine Infantry Volunteers. It was a great sacrifice of his fondest ambition to leave college and all it meant, at the beginning of his sophomore year, but his convictions of duty rivaled all else. The regiment was organized at Augusta during the winter of 1861 and '62, and he left for the front February 18, 1862. The regiment was ordered to the Department of the Gulf, forming a part of the Nineteenth Corps, commanded by Gen. B. F. Butler. The rendezvous was Ship Island in the Gulf of Mexico, pending the attack on Forts Jackson and St. Phillip, resulting in the capture of New Orleans the following April. The regiment was for many months in the forts on the river and the defenses of the city.

At the beginning of 1863, Gen. N. P. Banks succeeded General Butler, and a system of employment of negroes, on the many plantations on the Mississippi River, was instituted, and Provost Marshals were detailed by General Banks to see that the negroes were kept at work on the various places where they were assigned. It was difficult to secure a crop of sugar unless the planter could be sure of constant labor at the proper time, and the negroes were much more ready to loiter about the country, where our troops were, than to work, even where they were paid for it.

The promotion of Captain Grover of Company H to Major of the regiment, promoted Second Lieutenant Foster to First Lieutenant and as such he acted as Provost Marshal. It was an exceedingly important position at that period, for freedom to the colored man meant freedom from work and plenty to eat, regardless of where it came from. Lieutenant Foster showed rare wisdom at this duty. He was firm in dealing with the negroes, while he saw to it that the planters kept faith with them. He became a great favorite with the planters, among whom he made some very strong friends. He thus early displayed the wisdom of the young Judge. Lieutenant Foster served for more than a year as Provost Marshal, meeting the strong approval of General Banks and the planters of that section of Louisiana. He then resigned to join his regiment.

In the spring of 1865, the regiment joined the famous Red River Expedition, which resulted so disastrously to the Union troops, and in which the 13th Maine received its first severe fighting, at the battles of Sabine Cross Roads and Pleasant Hill. In battle, as in less dangerous service, Lieutenant Foster acquitted himself with credit. After the Red River fiasco, the regiment, with the rest of the Nineteenth Corps, was sent to Virginia.

In the Shenandoah Valley, the regiment did good service, especially at the battle of Cedar Creek. In the spring of 1866, the remainder of the regiment was consolidated with the 30th Maine, and Lieutenant Foster, his term of service having expired, came back to Maine.

JULY 4th AT BETHEL

Churches Are Working On Arrangements

Representatives from the three Bethel churches met last Monday evening at the Methodist Vestry to consider the question of the observance of Independence Day.

After discussion it was voted to try this year an Inter-Church Field Day and Picnic, hoping that the plans adopted might lead to a general community celebration next year with more elaborate plans and on a larger scale in every way.

Various points were discussed with reference to the ringing of bells, a parade, a program of field events, baseball, the necessary arrangements for dinner, judges, prizes, music, fireworks—in a word whatever seemed appropriate or possible for the day and its proper observance. It was finally decided to refer all details to sub-committees with the request that they make any needed investigations and be prepared to report definite plans to the next meeting of the general committee.

The list of special committees follows, subject to change or addition at the coming meeting of the whole committee.

1. Place and Equipment; Rev. J. H. Little, Clement Wood, Vivian Hutchins.
2. Program and Publicity; Rev. W. C. Curtis, Harold Chapman.
3. Field Events and Special Games; Mr. E. E. Callahan, T. C. Chapman, Carroll Valentine, Harold Chandler, Mrs. Mason, Miss Park.
4. Base Ball, Junior and Senior; Harold Chapman, Harold Chandler, Harry Young.
5. Dinner Arrangements; Mrs. Arno, Mrs. Harry Hastings, Mrs. Valentine.

The next meeting is called at the Methodist Vestry, at 7:30 next Monday evening, June 15th.

HUTCHINS—MARTIN

A very quiet wedding took place Friday morning at the home of the bride on Franklin St. when Miss Ellen Louise Martin, only daughter of Mrs. A. K. Martin, became the wife of Mr. George A. Hutchins. The ceremony, which was very simple in every detail, took place at nine thirty o'clock in the morning, the Rev. Frederick Crosby Lee, rector of St. Barnabas Church officiating. The house was very attractively decorated with roses, tulips and pink, the color scheme of pink and white being carried out in every particular. The bride, gowned in a mustard colored poplin suit with chiffon waist to match made over light blue net, the entire costume completed by a very becoming black hat, entered the parlor with the groom, to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, as played by the bride's cousin, Miss Mabel Chase, who was gowned in white lace with pink sash, and a large white hat. The couple took their stand in the front bay window of the room, where the words were spoken which joined them man and wife. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride and groom went directly to Dr. McArthur's Hospital for a call on the bride's mother, who is just convalescing from an operation for appendicitis.

At ten forty five o'clock, at the Episcopal Rectory on Penobscot St. a wedding breakfast was served to the newly wedded couple and the bridal party by Mrs. Frederick Crosby Lee and Mrs. J. E. Wesley Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins departed on the 11:55 train for a honeymoon to be spent in the Rangleys region, where they have hired Mr. R. B. Stratton's camp for a two weeks stay. A large party of friends were at the station to bid them farewell, and certainly did well toward giving the newly married couple a good send off. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins will live in Maine for the present.

NOTICE.

I wish to notify the patrons of the Bethel Post office that beginning June 7 the Post office will be open but once on Sundays. The Sunday hours will be from 11:45 A. M. to 12:45 P. M. This is according to Rules and Regulations of 1913.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT GOULD'S ACADEMY

Exercises Interesting and of High Order

Commencement week at Gould's Academy opened with the baccalaureate sermon by Prof. James Lukens McConaughy of Bowdoin College. Special music was under the able direction of Dr. I. H. Wight. The church was most beautifully decorated. The class colors draped the organ, and the chancel and altar was banked with apple blossoms and evergreen. Prof. McConaughy is a magnetic and impressive speaker and the large audience was deeply impressed by his forceful address. He was the guest of Judge and Mrs. A. E. Herrick during his stay in town.

Monday and Tuesday were given to examinations.

The only drawback to the graduation exercises on Thursday was the heavy rain. Despite the fact that the storm curtailed the efforts at decoration, the stage was effective with its always beautiful green background and masses of white lilacs and ferns. The soft electric light, for which the somberness of the day gave occasion, thrown on the stage, added much to the charm of the scene. Music was by Pettengill's Orchestra.

The Program was as follows:—

U. S. WARNS AGAINST ALLEGED HOG CHOLERA CURES.

Government Has Not Approved Any Treatment Except the Protective Serum.

Evidence of what appears to be a well organized campaign to delude farmers throughout the country into buying an alleged cure for hog cholera, under the impression that this has been investigated and approved by the United States Government, has reached the Department of Agriculture. Articles praising this medicine, beneficial to name, are being sent out widespread to newspapers. These articles are so worded that it appears as if the Department of Agriculture had received reports from the state of Minnesota showing that the medicine had proved most beneficial. As a matter of fact the one report received by the Department was an unofficial and unsworn statement sent presumably from the promoters themselves. The Department attaches no importance whatever to this statement. It has no reason to believe in the efficacy of any proprietary cure for hog cholera and does not recommend any. Under certain conditions it urges farmers to protect their stock with anti-hog cholera serum but that is all.

CLASS ODE.

Words and Music by MARGARET EVELYN HERRICK.

Four years we've met together,

At the ringing of the bell;

Through fair and cloudy weather,

We've learned our lessons well;

But now our task is finished,

And we say "Good-bye," for aye;

But the memories we'll leave us,

Of the days at dear G. A.

CHORUS.

Dear Gould's, farewell to you,

And to our classmates dear;

May we ne'er forget the happy hours

We've spent together here;

To the lessons that have taught us,

May we evermore be true;

It grieves our hearts today to sing

Our farewell song to you.

The future stands before us,

And we've much hard work to do;

But God is watching o'er us,

And will always help us through,

If He should ever will it,

That our future paths should meet,

We know the thoughts of dear old

Gould's

Will bring remembrance sweet.

The parts were all well taken. It was universally conceded that some were, in substance and in manner of rendering, of very exceptional merit.

On Thursday evening the Commencement Concert was given. Mrs. Wynifred

Friday evening the Seniors gave their reception in Olson Hall, which was largely attended and pronounced a delightful success. Patronesses: Mrs.

W. O. Straw, Mrs. O. M. Mason, Miss

Mary H. True and Mrs. Davis Lovejoy.

In connection with this attempt it may be said that the medicine, which is now put forward as good for hogs, was advertised some time ago as a means of killing tuberculosis, typhoid, and cancer germs, according to an article published in the Journal of the American Medical Association. At that time it was asserted that the Army was interested in it. As a matter of fact the Army was no more interested then than the Department of Agriculture is now.

In view of the evidence that the attempt to create this false impression is persistent and widespread, all hog owners are warned to communicate with the United States authorities before accepting as true any statement that the Government recommends any treatment other than the serum already mentioned.

NOTICE.

Whereas, my wife, Maud V. Douglass, has left my bed and board without just provocation, this is to forbid all persons harboring or trusting her on my account, as I shall pay no debts of her contracting after this date.

YOU CAN'T EAT APPETITE POOR

Multitudes of people lose their appetite. Simply don't care for anything to eat. The dinner bell has no interest to them. They loathe their breakfast. They may nibble a little of this and a little of that, but they do not care for it.

Lunch has lost all of its charms, although they try to eat something. Dinner about the same. There is something positively wrong, of course, but no disease that can be named. Just out of sorts. That is all.

It is in this kind of a condition that Peruna acts very beneficially. After using Peruna, interest in food is revived. Beginning with a teaspoonful of Peruna before each meal will generally quickly improve the appetite and help the digestion.

Thousands of people can testify to this. Liberated from a slavery that is almost unbearable. The slavery of having no interest in life. All need it. Yet one does not know exactly why. Take Peruna before each meal. Skies will get blue again. Fields will look green once more and life will be pleasant. You will feel that you are good for something and the world is a good place to live in. Peruna will do it. Not as an artificial stimulant. Simply a tonic that stimulates appetite in a natural way.

These who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

AN AFFAIR OF STATES.

A L. ASKA started all the fuss, because, he claimed, that young KENT UCKY

Had stole his girl, sweet MARY LAND, And he was loath to lose his ducky.

He told his woes to FLORI DA, And to her chum, LOUISE I. ANA, And, under their advice, he rose And smote him with a ripe banana!

Now, KENT was dancing with the girl, And making eyes at 'CAROL INA, With no more thought of angry AL, Than of the Balkan war, or China.

But when the weapon smote him fair, He knew, at once, it was bravo, And called the Colonel to his side, The fighting colonel, COL. O. RADO.

MONT ANA and young DEL A. WARE Stood back of AL, and made his quota, While MARY LAND was badly scared, And IDA HO and MINNE BOTA.

But AL A. BAMA stood for KENT, And said the blow was foul and cruel, And preparations moved apace To fight it out in proper duel.

MISS OUBI, who was fond of AL, With jealousy was almost dippy, She hurried off to lay the case Before the chapman, MISSIE SHIPPI.

The chapman spoke: "The fight must stop! And tough it is! A sore affliction! I'd like to see it! But it lies Within the Federal Jurisdiction!"

Save Medicine-Money
Since childhood Miss Nan L. Connor has found "L. F. Atwood's Medicine" a reliable remedy for many ills. It does the work of higher-priced medicines, and saves many dollars.

Boston, Mass. "I recommend the 'L. F. Atwood's Medicine' from childhood, as a reliable remedy for many ills. It is as good for children as for grown folks. I know many people who use it constantly instead of more costly medicine. It gives a good appetite and helps to keep up the strength."

POEMS WORTH READING

LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE.

By W. J. Lampton
"Talk happiness; the world is sad enough without your woes."—Jill.
Motto, Nore's Home, Black-well's Island.
Talk happiness. What if you're not as bright and as bright as the stars,
Where the sun ever shines
From the alvery lines
That swing out of Paradise;
Will the shadows you feel
And do not conceal
Make the shine of the sun any brighter?
Will the burdens you bear
And expose everywhere
Make the load of the weary ones lighter?
Talk happiness. What though You've got an overplus of we,
General it somehow. You will find There's plenty of the other kind To talk their troubles. Don't you let Yourself be caught in any net
With such a bunch. Brace up, and show Yourself superior to woe.
Of course it is a load; but, say,
You needn't give yourself away,
And those who listen need not know
What lies behind your cheerful show.
Talk happiness. By that You rise above the dreary flat
Of trouble-talkers, and command
A passing glimpse of Happyland;
A passing glimpse that brings some cheer.
To you no less than those who hear
The words you speak, and hearing, lift
Their heavy eyes up to the rift That breaks the clouds and lets the blue.
With its good cheer, come streaming through.
Talk happiness. It's hard, no doubt,
But there's enough to talk about;
And though it isn't yours, perhaps,
Respect at other people's snaps.
If you have troubles, cut them out,
Or leave to friends to talk about.
Talk happiness, although
Your bosom may be full of woe.
But if you can't—if you must tell
How far the Lord has not done well
By you, go out and throw your words
Of woe and trouble to the birds.

THE WORKERS.

The craftsman stood beside his bench and smiled.
Although his muscles ached and on his brow
The sweat beads stood. He raised his eyes and spoke:
"This is my work; I have fashioned it in it.
Well as I could, all my thought and my plan;
Perfect it is not, and yet not unfit;
Thank it holds and true service to man.
Mine in the making, and mine as it stands,
Thought of my spirit and work of
my hands."
The farmer looked across the millpond fields
Where waiting harvests shimmered in the breeze.
His untanned face was joyous as he said:
"This is my work; through the cold and the heat,
Husht and rain, I have labored and wrought,
Orchards and meadows and wild fields of wheat Owe all their wealth to my care and my thought.
Mine was the toil, mine the harvest
that stands,
Thought of my spirit and work of
my hands."

The teacher watched with loving eyes
the throng of jostling, happy children in the street.
And said, with tender voice and face glowing:
"These are my work; all my thought and my care,
Hills and valleys and stern self on and on.
Gladly I give that their lives may be free,
Shower each child and more noble
each soul
For life can be rich life as it stands,
Thought of my spirit and work of
my hands."

The poet mused his verses, and his face
Was all aglow with light reflected from his dream; hushed was his voice, but full of joy.
"This is my work, which with pains taking time
I have endeavored to make true and new.
Night was my dream as the heart was alone.
No I have striven to have it entire
This is my gift to all men of all lands."

William Tell FLOUR

Is famous pie-crust flour
—makes it tender and light and flaky and perfectly di-gestible. Just as good for bread and cake and biscuits and whatever you are baking.
And the most economical flour milled—gives you most leaves to the sack.
Your grocer keeps William Tell. Insist on it next time you order flour.

Thought of my spirit and work of
my hands."

Then as they viewed their work there came to each
The sense of failure past and of the strength
The future claimed; and humbly each one said:
"This is my work; it was given to me,
Though it is greater than my strength can do.
Yet from the task I ask not to be free;
For, if I labor with purposes true,
Ever will infinite love help me stand, Leading my spirit and guiding my hand."

E. E. MILLER.
